

JENNY LIAO '09

WHAT HAS SHE BEEN UP TO?

Jenny has completed a Bachelor of Applied Science (Psychology) at Deakin University and then, a Master of Psychology (Educational & Developmental Psychology) at Monash University. While completing her Masters, Jenny worked as a Provisional Psychologist. Over the years, she has held various psychology roles and worked as a telephone counsellor and a Pharmacist Assistant.

Jenny is passionate about providing high quality psychological services to clients who have a language barrier and thus, provides psychological services to clients in Mandarin, Cantonese and English. She is working to promote mental health in the Chinese community and hopes to reduce their stigma against seeking mental health services.

We are thankful to Jenny for volunteering her time to give back & encourage current MWSC students. She has been an inspirational and highly engaging speaker at different career and pathway sessions.

WHERE IS SHE NOW?

Jenny is currently a practicing psychologist.

In her spare time, Jenny and her partner co-hosts "The Entrepreneur Club", a community founded by her mentors to enable networking and learning opportunities to those who wishes to 'think outside the box' and innovate. She also mentors young people privately in their journey towards entrepreneurship, to support them to breakthrough beliefs and barriers so they can pursue and fulfil their dreams. She hopes to pay forward the benefits she has received from mentorship.

SOMETHING YOU MIGHT NOT KNOW ABOUT HER

It was the Health & Human Development subject at school that taught Jenny about the importance of mental health and inspired her decision to become a psychologist, to actively support mental illness in society.
